

Who Offers Apprenticeships?

Apprenticeships have been developed by a wide range of employment sectors and are available in industries as diverse as finance, engineering, IT and travel. Many workplaces in the UK employ apprentices, ranging from large national companies such as British Gas and BMW to small- and medium-sized local businesses.

The apprenticeship programme has developed significantly in recent years and apprenticeships are becoming increasingly popular with employers. More employers are welcoming apprentices and many leading companies are expanding their apprenticeship programmes. At any one time, there are thousands of vacancies available online, mainly in England, but also in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.
